

Proctor Memorial Park Honoring Our Heroes

A memorial park and playground was constructed on an 11-acre site located on Tracy Road, about a half mile west of Sawmill Road in New Whiteland. This park is named after Sgt. Joseph E. Proctor, who was killed while defending our freedom and the lives of hundreds of American soldiers in Iraq on May 3, 2006. This park will serve as a living classroom where families will read the names and stories of local heroes – Military, police, fire, EMS; people who serve unselfishly to protect and serve our communities and country.

We have been given an opportunity to celebrate the lives of these brave men and women - to tell their stories and keep their memories alive. We are the proud owners and benefactors of an amazing piece of American history, and we have been called to preserve and perpetuate these stories. What began as a mission to thank one of our own fallen heroes has become an opportunity for us to thank, honor and respect the many men and women, both living and deceased, who have sacrificed for all of us.

We have two (2) brick walkways with Proctor Park. The WALK OF FREEDOM pays tribute to all veterans. Family members may order personalized bricks to be placed in the designated area for the branch of military in which their loved one served or is currently serving.

The PATHWAY OF HONOR, in our southern playground area, memorializes all other “Hometown Heroes” – Police, fire and emergency responders. Brick pavers may also be purchased to be placed in this walkway.

TO ORDER YOUR BRICK: Complete the form below with the message to be inscribed on the brick. Each line of engraving contains 16 characters, including spaces and punctuation. Please indicate which walkway the brick is to be placed within.
